GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES

A STRONG FOUNDATION OF VOLUNTEERS IS VITAL TO THE SUCCESS OF LOVE A GOLDEN RESCUE.

Love a Golden Rescue has been a successful volunteer organization for over seven years. It is with the help of all our volunteers that has lead to this success. So far this year we have taken in over 55 wonderful goldens or "close" to golden, and been able to place 52 goldens as of August 10th.

Love a Golden Rescue desperately needs volunteers to continue our success. Volunteering is fun and very rewarding. Please consider becoming an active part of Love a Golden Rescue. Your time, talents and support are very much appreciated. A big Golden thank you to all our current volunteers. Love a Golden could not accomplish what we have without your help and support. We are finding, though, we need help in certain areas. Please read through these and contact us at adoption@loveagolden.com if you can or will jump in !!!

- FOSTERING – We are always in need of foster homes. We have dogs on a wait list that need our help, but nowhere to go with them – please consider this. Think about some poor little guy or gal in a shelter waiting for someone to help!

- TEMPORARY FOSTERING – Second to fostering is a new program initiated to temporarily foster. In this case, you would sometimes do the "intake" on the golden and foster while he/she is recovering from the spay/neuter surgery. This would usually be a week or less. Then the golden would be transferred to a new foster home or to boarding.

- TRANSPORTING – Logistics on picking up the intake goldens can sometimes be a real challenge.

This can involve taking them to the vet for care – i.e. shots, spay, neuter, etc., then to a foster home or to the kennel. Another need is to pick up a boarded dog and bring him/her to an adoption event, and then return. If these goldens aren't out in public, it diminishes their chance of finding a forever home. If you have time you could spare to help with that, it would be wonderful!

- ADOPTION EVENTS - Helping at adoption events is so wonderful. Showing off available goldens gives them a better chance to be adopted. It is also a great time for us to meet, greet, and socialize with each other.

- PROGRAM SUPPORT - Participation and attending our fund raising events is a great need. This support brings our group closer together and stronger. This also helps us keep the $$ coming in to continue our goals. Doing the rescue work we do comes with a cost. We need to continually raise money to cover these expenses. In order to do this, we really do need EVERYONE'S help!!

- GENERAL HELP – We always need dog biscuit bakers, and craft makers! We sell these items at craft fairs and bake sales to support Love a Golden. If you have other talents/hobbies, please let us know. We are always excited about new ideas.

- UPCOMING EVENTS – On page 10 of this newsletter is a list of the upcoming events. You can also go to our home page on the web site. On the left column, click on "Events" button, and there is a listing of upcoming events.

"IT TAKES A VILLAGE" – This is so true – you all are the goldens' village. Please consider setting aside whatever time you can to help with these projects.

Thanks for all your past, present and "future" support!!!

President's Message

Hi, Love a Golden Rescue is having an excellent year, and we continue to help many dogs during this very difficult time in our country. We hear about two to three new dogs almost everyday. Many are being separated from their families due to foreclosure, divorce or people moving into apartments and cannot take their dogs with them. Many dogs are being surrendered to shelters, or their owners are trying to find a rescue organization to take their dog in. We continue to help as many as we are able to, however, we are handicapped by the lack of foster homes.

The circumstances of the dogs have no boundaries, they could be just a year old or a senior who has lived with a family since puppyhood. They could be very healthy and have received excellent vet care, or they may have never received any type of vet care. Some may even have serious health issues.

One such intake is Emmie, she has lived with her family since she was a puppy, she is now eight. The family has two small children with health problems. Emmie has lived in the basement for a year while they have tried to work things out with the children. She is now a Love a Golden Dog. Her life has been turned upside down, and she is very confused. Her foster home reports that she is doing better, but it has been very difficult for her. In addition to the trauma of change, she has a rare cancer and requires special needs.

The support we receive from all of our loyal friends is truly wonderful, thank you.

Golden thoughts
Jan Knoche

ASK ELSA

Dear Elsa,

As I get older my girlish waist is disappearing, What can I do? I really love treats. Chloe

Dear Chloe,

As you love treats, I would suggest your human gives you baby carrots or apple slices as your treat. The calories in doggie biscuits need to be taken into account when your amount of daily food is determined. The bigger the treat, the more the calories. I am always given tiny treats and I never get very many.

My human also substitutes 1/2 cup of dog food with 1/2 cup of green beans in my supper. The green beans help me feel full and reduce my calorie intake.

Exercise is also very important. A walk everyday is the best way to go.

Elsa

Golden Pennies

Over the last three and a half years we have collected 300,000 pennies to help our goldens.

Our next milestone is 400,000 pennies.

We have now collected 11,571 toward that milestone.

These pennies will assist our Golden Retrievers, who were strays, who have been rescued from shelters or whose families could no longer care for them.

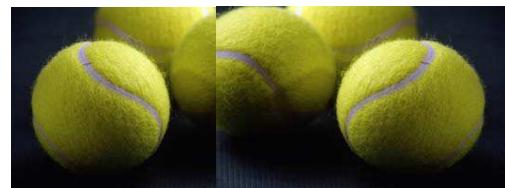

Our rescue provides vet care and foster homes prior to their adoptions by loving homes.

Please bring your pennies to any LAGR event

HAPPY ENDINGS

Devon now Ruby (in front) with her Golden companion Ginger. She is doing great in her new home.

Lincoln turned 5. He got to go to a farm on the banks of the Meramec River to celebrate.

The farm has some cows and he found some of their manure within the first 5 minutes. He was so happy to have rolled in it. I was not so happy to have to clean it off him in the river. What a character.

Rosie is doing very well in her new home.

We entered Maddie in a pet parade here in Princeton, Illinois as Love a Golden Rescue. Well, they ended up putting us in the front of the parade behind the Police K-9 unit AND we took 1st place. It was a 2 mile parade; luckily, it was a cloudy day so the pavement was cool.

Girard and Lilla happy in their forever home.

Violet's nickname is now Princess Vi, does that give you a hint.... LOL. She is just wonderful. She has really gotten big.

Fostering

- Author Unknown

There I sat, alone and afraid,
You got a call and came right to my aid.
You bundled me up with blankets and love.
And, when I needed it most, you gave me a hug.

I learned that the world was not all that scary and cold.
That sometimes there is someone to have and to hold.
You taught me what love is, you helped me to mend.
You loved me and healed me and became my first friend.

And just when I thought you'd done all you could do,
There came along not one new lesson, but two.
First you said, "Sweetheart, you're ready to go.
I've done all I can, and you've learned all I know."

Then you bundled me up with a blanket and a kiss.
Along came a new family, they even have kids!
They took me to their home, forever to stay.
At first I thought you sent me away.

Then that second lesson became perfectly clear.
No matter how far, you will always be near.
And so, Foster Mom, you know I've moved on.
I have a new home, with toys and a lawn.

But I'll never forget what I learned that first day.
You never really give your fosters away.
You gave me these thoughts to remember you by.
We may never meet again, and now I know why.

You'll remember I lived with you for a time.
I may not be yours, but you'll always be mine.

Blaze's Tale

The following short story was written for a creative writing project for Mrs. Bedsworth's Communication Arts 8 class in the Francis Howell School district.

Heidi Rose
Mrs. Bedsworth
Communication Arts 8
15 May 2008

A picture of a golden retriever puppy lies on a table in a cozy little house in a small town. His chocolate brown eyes closed while resting his forepaws up on the back of a La-Z-Boy. A picture is truly worth a thousand words. I know that when I look at a photo, I can only just imagine its story. Here is Blaze's story.

Vehicles drove past Blaze as he shivered in the nighttime chilly air. His puppy fur was caked with dirt, crackling with each step. He had been eating anything he could find, but nothing seemed edible enough to fill. Blaze's taunt skin was close to his bones and he whimpered, wanting to be rid of the hungry pangs. His paws were scratched raw from constant sliding on the icy sidewalks making them unbearably sore. He watched miserably as humans walked past, ignoring him to walk into warm, insulated buildings. Blaze slowly made his way to the alley that he usually spent most of his day at. At this time of night it was dimly lit, reeking of long ago spoiled food that his enhanced canine senses seemed to have grown accustomed. Blaze collapsed onto the stone hard cement, worn out and panting.

Humans hurried through the streets never turning their heads his way. His head rested on his paws in an attempt to stay warm. Blaze's ears picked up a scratching sound coming from behind him. A man dressed in a shabby overcoat, clutching a bottle wrapped in a paper bag, staggered towards the dumpster a hundred feet away from him. The man dug in searching for food, scattering garbage everywhere. Blaze's eyes soon slid shut and he drifted into a sleep that made him forget the cold.

He dreamed of a lush green backyard with humans that looked at him adoringly. They shared his joy, a little girl laughed merrily. He romped around, trying to unsuccessfully tear a rope chew toy out of the father's hands. The father just laughed and patted his head gently. Blaze gave him a mere doggish grin. His dream didn't last forever as he had hoped it would, a honking vehicle horn woke him suddenly.

A lady almost hidden under layers of clothing called out to Blaze as she stepped out of her vehicle, only to receive a startled expression from him. Humans occasionally came to pet Blaze and fuss over his condition doing absolutely nothing. The lady walked over to him and he crushed himself against the wall. She shushed him with a soothing voice, bending down to stroke the matted fur on his head. He relaxed slightly. She ran her fingers across Blaze's body grimacing as she easily felt his bones through his coat. The lady put one hand underneath his front legs and the other under his tail hoisting him up and next to her chest. Blaze could feel her body heat warming him. She jiggled him slightly to open her vehicle door. As the lady got in, Blaze was blasted in the face with a wave of hot air. When he was situated onto the seat next to her, she turned her head to smile kindly at him before she started to drive. A new senseless hope washed over Blaze, it comforted him to know that someone cared about him. That spark sent warmth spreading through his thin and fragile body.

1 year later...

Blaze remembered that day so well that his heart ached. She had taken him home and spoiled Blaze to a point that he thought was unimaginable. Sometimes the generosity of humans surprised him when he least expected it. It was a year later and he no longer feared the harsh winters as he once had. Blaze's paws silently padded the thick carpeting as he walked towards the kitchen. His nails soon started to click on the linoleum floor alerting his human to his presence. She glanced up from her work at the table and her face was graced with a warm glowing smile, her figure wrapped in a robe. Blaze felt his eyes light up and his tail wag as he galloped over to her nearly crashing into her chair. His human cradled her head in her left hand, her shoulder length hair cascading onto the table. The other hand gripped a porcelain coffee mug filled with a dark liquid. She lifted up her head off her hand and reached her hand out to gently pet Blaze's groomed, fur covered head. She got up, and he scooted out of the way as the chair screeched across the floor. His human twisted a doorknob revealing a hole in the wall stuffed to the seams with jackets, hats, gloves and other apparel. She reached in for a nylon green jacket and a pair of red gloves, and then quickly pulled them on. He followed her out the door to the outside.

Blaze breathed in the snow laden air as he went ballistic in the snow. His coat got wet rolling in the snow as his human laughed at him calling him a silly dog. Blaze barked in delight, shaking off the snow still clinging to his coat before continuing to romp around. Blaze turned his head to stare at her, it wasn't exactly the same as that dream he had once had, but it was her, who had breathed life back into him when he had almost given up. She ran a hand through her hair thoughtfully, and then sat on the porch stoop. The light from the sun made the snow dance in a sparkling rage. His head racked with erratic joy, he plopped down onto a mound of snow, his pink tongue hanging out. Caught up in all the excitement, Blaze tired out quickly. His human grinned while she stood up, motioning him inside and he raced up the stairs and in.

Once inside, Blaze rested himself up on the back of a chair. He'd seen his human do it, so why couldn't he? His eyes slowly closing, he heard the rolling of a drawer open and his human took out a camera. She pointed it in his direction; the flash went off, freezing the scene forever.

This was only one story, though it might have been fictional, it stands for those who were lucky enough to have experienced a new life like Blaze did. Hundreds of thousands of dogs each year are abandoned or are strays. Blaze represents only the small percentage of those that are the fortunate ones.

A Tired Old Dog - Author Unknown

An older, tired-looking dog wandered into my yard; I could tell from his collar and well-fed belly that he had a home and was well taken care of.

He calmly came over to me, I gave him a few pats on his head; he then followed me into my house, slowly walked down the hall, curled up in the corner and fell asleep.

An hour later, he went to the door, and I let him out.
The next day he was back, greeted me in my yard, walked inside and resumed his spot in the hall and again slept for about an hour.

This continued off and on for several weeks.

Curious I pinned a note to his collar: 'I would like to find out who the owner of this wonderful sweet dog is and ask if you are aware that almost every afternoon your dog comes to my house for a nap.'

The next day he arrived for his nap, with a different note pinned to his collar:
He lives in a home with 6 children, 2 under the age of 3 - he's trying to catch up on his sleep.

IN LOVING MEMORY

The following Goldens have recently gone to the bridge.

Georgie Girl lost her battle with cancer and is now running cancer free at the bridge.
Age unknown.

Spenser passed away suddenly in early August. He lived with his "forever family" for only three and a half years and each day we wished he had been with us longer. Spenser was a big boy, but a gentle giant, known for stepping on your feet with heavy paws and wet very sloppy kisses to say he was sorry and that he loved you. We loved Spenser each and every day he was with us and are thankful for the opportunity to have called him a member of our family.

Cheyenne (Morgan) in front. It is with great sadness to tell you that Cheyenne has passed on. She fought the brave fight through the homelessness, heartworm from which LAGR freed her, and the ulcerated tumor we had removed, even though the vet warned she might not survive. She always had a vision of survival, and I commend her. She shared our home and had our hearts for a little over six years. She was a very senior citizen and very tired when she left us. Her earthly heart would work no more.

The following Goldens also have gone to the bridge:
Misty came to rescue at 14 as a hospice dog, she passed away after receiving a lot of love in her foster home.

Remington who was 10 went to the bridge soon after coming to rescue.

2008 Reunion Picnic

On a beautiful June day we had a great time at the Reunion picnic. There were about 80 humans and 60 dogs. It was great to see all of the happy tails. We played games, won prizes, bid on great silent auction items and had many "give aways" as attendance prizes. I particularly enjoyed the adoption parade and hearing all of the great comments the humans have to say about their furry friends. Thanks for a great event Love a Golden volunteers and I look forward to next years picnic. — Submitted by Susan Reynolds

Dogs & Duds Celebrity Fashion Show

On July 20th, Devon and I were invited to a Celebrity Fashion Show at Kemp Auto Museum. Our foster parents gave us baths and got us all ready to go. Upon arriving at the fashion show we were greeted by a huge animal; my foster dad told me it was a Clydesdale and man was he big!!! We did not know what to expect, but mingled with the people and met many new friends. Devon was such a cute puppy and got a lot of attention. As we mingled with the people we heard names such as Albert Pujols and Tony LaRussa. Devon and I were not sure who these people were, but then our foster dads told us they were famous Cardinals. To me it did not matter who they were, I love everyone.

When it was time for the Fashion Show, Devon and I were matched with celebrities to walk the runway. I was matched with Jerry Clinton who is a CEO of a local company. Devon was matched with Emily West who is a country music recording artist. We did a great job as the humans clapped after we were done. I understand the event was to raise money for The Companion Animal Alliance. I hear that they are like the United Way of the animal world. I am very grateful for the opportunity to be a part of something so special and I am sure the event was a huge success.

Trivia Night

Our 3rd annual Trivia Night with a silent auction was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in St. Charles, MO. The event was a great success, and everyone seemed to have a good time. We would like to extend our thanks to our volunteers who worked so hard to make this evening such a great success, especially Jennifer who organized the auction and Tim, our Master of Ceremonies and question writer.

DogSmarts

Maryland Heights Community Center was the site for our DogSmarts seminar on August 10th. Behaviorist Deborah Walker and Dave the Math Dog kept the audience totally entertained for the entire afternoon.

Deborah, with the aid of several dogs onstage, demonstrated several training techniques and helped us understand dog behavior. Dave, a handsome golden retriever, then amazed the audience with his incredible math abilities!

Volunteer Marcia, who was instrumental in introducing LAGR to Dave, said this was a "wonderful program" and her thoughts were echoed by volunteer Ruby who said this was a "great afternoon... meaningful and entertaining." Note the cute shirts in the photos—thank you, Bob & Sandy!

LOVE A GOLDEN RESCUE - BENEFACTORS

Love A Golden Rescue would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our benefactors who, since the publication of our last newsletter, have given new "forever homes" to our homeless Goldens and who have generously helped our Goldens with their financial support, gifts in kind and donated services.
