Story of one rescued golden

Things don't always turn out the way you plan. Sometimes vets and medical statistics are wrong. Sometimes first impressions aren't correct. So it was with Elsa...

On April 2, 2006, two 4 ½ lb. puppies came to LAGR from the Missouri/Arkansas border after being abandoned. They were covered with hundreds of ticks. Both puppies were anemic and very sick. We named them Clover and Elsa. They were diagnosed with distemper, and sadly, Clover died the next day, but Elsa was a fighter. She was named Elsa after the lion in the movie “Born Free” and the memoir. Elsa was orphaned as a cub. Our Elsa was very determined to survive, despite having all the cards stacked against her, along with suffering from hair loss, distemper, lacerations, and all the ticks which caused the anemia she battled.

A plan was made and a lot of prayers were said for her to get well. In her foster home, she was given fast-drip IVs twice a day in the back of her neck. The area where the needle went in would swell up with the fluids, and she looked like a miniature camel running around.

Elsa got stronger and survived which was unbelievable. Having had distemper, she had several things going against her. One, her teeth were destroyed due to the distemper viral infection. The enamel was damaged and it was not long before she had just a mouth full of stubs. Secondly, her life expectancy was no more than 2 years, and it was assumed she would almost certainly become a seizure dog. Someone forgot to tell Elsa this, because she lived way past her two-year life expectancy, and she thrived. After nursing her through the critical stages of her illness, her foster home adopted her, figuring her life would be short, but they were committed to making the most of her time.

Surprisingly, she became a therapy dog. Elsa would go to class and in true Elsa form she would sleep until she had to perform a task. When called upon to do something, she was on it and did great. In November 2007, she completed the training and graduated. For many years she went to Mercy Skilled Nursing and enjoyed the interaction with the patients. When she was around ten, Elsa decided it was time to retire. She would not interact with people anymore, so she hung up her harness. She passed the baton to her brother Lincoln in June 2016.

Elsa was known as the naughty girl. She looked innocent and well-behaved. After all, she'd gone through therapy dog training. But looks can be deceiving. Elsa looked like an angel, but she was always plotting something devilish. At events, the adults would be talking in the booth, oblivious to Elsa at the end of the leash. All of a sudden a paper bag would rustle or some cellophane would crinkle, the volunteers would glance around to see what was causing the noise... and they'd see Elsa rooting around a box of treat bags with her nose--she was helping herself to a snack. Her family would have to make sure the door to the basement room was always completely shut--the room where lots of LAGR stuff was stored--because otherwise she'd get into lots of mischief. Volunteers who helped out at events quickly learned that they had to keep an eye on Elsa at all times.

Elsa loved her walks and going to the lake. She hated having new foster dogs come into the house, and she would refuse to interact with them or look at them. Instead, she would turn her back and walk off. Her eating place was in the bathroom, and for most of her life her family could not have toilet paper on the toilet paper holder, because she would pull it off the roll in true Elsa-fashion. She would always bark when she was done eating, and was always impatient if we were not quick enough to let her out. If we were too slow, she would bark again. Just one impatient bark every minute.

Many of you know her as the brain behind the “Ask Elsa” column. Her knowledge was vast, and her writing ability direct. Several months ago she decided she no longer wanted that job and persuaded Keeper to take over.

Elsa dislocated her hip in October 2017, and she had to wear a hobble between her rear legs while she healed and her hip was put back in the socket. After that she was never the same, just like many people after breaking a hip. She no longer wanted to go on walks and had to use a sling for stairs. She did go to water therapy and in true Elsa form decided that was not for her. After a few tries, it was decided she had no aptitude and no longer went.

Elsa got weaker and weaker the last few months. During a visit to VSS it was thought to be neurological more than orthopedic. Sadly, Elsa was lost on May 29th, 2019. She was 13 years old. It is very possible the distemper finally won, due to the neurological symptoms, but in true Elsa form she made sure she had a great time during her life's journey. Rest in peace, Elsa.

Presidents Message

Hi,

I hope you had a great 4th of July and your furry friends did not get too stressed. (Fireworks--and all the other noisy things that happen during that holiday--really can make dogs anxious.) So far this year, our intakes are down. We hear about very few goldens needing to be surrendered, and often when we do get a call or an email, people change their minds or they go elsewhere.

We have not been taking labs--yellow, black or chocolate ones--due to having 5 dogs in heart worm treatment this spring. The treatment is several months long and thus prevents our foster homes from taking in dogs during the treatment. A special thank you to those who are caring for one of these dogs as they recover from the ravages of heart worm.

We have only taken in a handful of dogs from overseas this year. There is a lack of flight volunteers who will bring them to Chicago. Instead, many of the volunteers have been going to either the east or west coast with dogs. Goldens are being saved, just not many in the Midwest.

We do have a senior chocolate lab, Bruce, who is a very sweet dog but is not fond of other dogs, so he has attracted little interest from prospective families. He would love his forever home a place where he can chill out, and soak up the attention. He does not ask for much, just the basics --food, water, love--and a home without a lot of stairs. There has to be a home for this guy... we just have not been able to find it yet. If you know anyone, please let us know.

Luck smiled on us during our 6K run. Thanks to Bob Lynch who modified the course (the course had to be changed due to flooding), we were able to hold a successful run. The people who participated were very understanding when we explained about the flooding. If we had scheduled the run just one week later, where we were was totally underwater.

We are gearing up for our annual Trivia Night on August 17th. Please consider joining us. Get some friends and family together, 8 to a table. The flyer is in this newsletter.

Thank you to our faithful donors, adopters, volunteers and friends. Without the help of each of you, we could not rescue any dogs. Our numbers are down, but each dog we've rescued has had their life changed for the better--forever.

Golden thoughts,
Jan

Keepers Korner

I just love spring and summer, but there are dangers in the yard for us doggies, especially in spring. The backyard is the perfect place to sniff around, to play fetch, and spring and summer is the perfect time for play sessions. However, your four-legged friends need to beware of the backyard, because sometimes danger lurks.

Did you ever think those beautiful peonies could make us sick? You humans need to be aware of poisonous plants in our gardens. Puppies especially like to try and eat them. (Puppies are always trying to chew up things, aren't they!)

Some common plants which are toxic are Mums, Irises, Foxglove, Tulip, Daffodil, Azalea, Delphinium, Rhododendron and the list goes on and on. For a more complete list you can search online <https://www.1stinfowers.com/articles/poisonous-plants-for-dogs.html> One more thing: all bulbs are toxic.

What is the first clue that a four-legger has eaten some backyard plants? Missing flowers. Then--what symptoms should our people look for in case we doggies have ingested something we shouldn't have? Signs that should alarm our owners include vomiting, diarrhea, weakness, change in urine and more-than-usual drooling. If we got hold of a bulb, it's really bad. Look for an upset gastrointestinal system, a stomach pain, and loss of appetite. If you suspect one of your dogs has gobbled up a plant that could endanger their health, call your vet immediately.

I learned a lot while doing my research. Yes, I read in-between play sessions. Even with only three legs, I can still manage to click the keys on the computer keyboard. My favorite books to read, of course, are books like Lassie and A Dog Named Skip. Well, I need to get back on track. Mum said I'm getting off topic. When I was doing my research, I discovered that deer are maybe smarter than us dogs because they love plants but know to stay away from poisonous ones. Deer do not like strong smelling plants such as Marigolds or plants with fuzzy textures such as Lamb's Ear and they don't like sharp-leafed plants such as Yucca.

I wonder why we did not get that gene? (We got the digging gene instead.)

Till next time,
Keeper

Help Wanted:

We've just finished our 4th annual run, and it was a lot of fun. However, we aren't drawing the number of runners we'd like. We'd like for at least 200 runners to join in next year's run--but we don't know how to effectively publicize the event.

Have you ever done any PR work before... or do you know someone who has? The run volunteers aren't experienced in getting the word out to the radio and television stations--along with the other possible ways to reach the public. We need help.

Please email adoption@loveagolden.com if you (or someone you know) can help make the 2020 run the best one ever.

PICK ME! - One of our goldens that is currently available for adoption

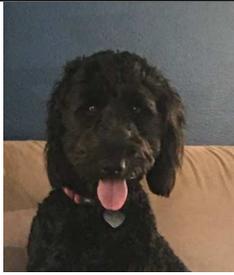

All of our adoptable goldens can be found on our web site at: www.loveagolden.com

Cadbury is a super sweet dog, good in the car and great with kids, cats, and dogs. He is great to sleep with and loves to play tug-o-war. He is house broken and will stand at the door to let you know he needs to go out. All this sweet boy wants is love, attention and a great home to live in! He is estimated to be three years old. He is high energy and needs lots of exercise. He is not a fan of thunderstorms.

Happy Endings

Chloe (formerly Nellie) is learning to enjoy her new life away from the breeder.

Piper is enjoying a birthday treat!

Our Louie is about to turn 9 years old and is the love of our life! He is the sweetest boy ever, and this coming from a person who has had 14 dogs in his lifetime.

As you can see in the photos, our male Persian has taken quite a shine to Hannah. He is constantly rubbing against her and laying in her bed. Hannah does not reciprocate the love but she doesn't seem to mind it too bad :)

We are just overjoyed to learn this morning that Courtney's mammary tumor is benign! She still has a few weeks of recovery ahead of her (she likes the donut collar a little better than the cone of shame) but we're definitely on the road to recovery.

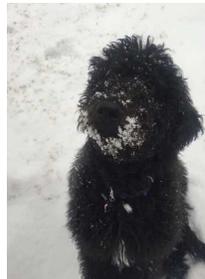

Lucas is doing great :)

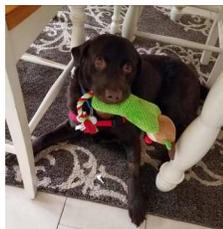

It's finally happened. The cat and Flower have bonded.

Ted (formerly Basel) is doing wonderful. He is such a good boy - full of energy but always ready to cuddle. Here are a few highlights:

- He loved the snow this winter and did not want to come inside.
- He recently completed a training class and did very well. We are continuing to work with him, and he is a fast learner.
- He absolutely loves playing fetch with a tennis ball. He is so infatuated that we sometimes have to hide them from him just so he will relax outside.

Tracker is the greatest gift we have given ourselves in a long time. ♥ Our day is full of activity that includes a walk, playing fetch, naps and loves chew toys. Such a good boy, he doesn't chew on things he shouldn't. We hit the jackpot with this guy! My sad-eyed, handsome boy is PERFECT!

Grace (formerly SueJan), came from the streets of Istanbul to a wonderful home. Lucky girl!

Tillman (formerly Noah) is doing great, and we love him. He is a wonderful addition to our family. Thank you, LAGR, for all you do for animals.

Happy Endings-CONTINUED

We are absolutely in love with Bailey (formerly Maisey) and can't imagine life without her. She is a perfect fit to our family. She and Shelby, our labradoodle are inseparable. 😊

Josie and I recently marked our three years together. I would like to thank LAGR for bringing her over from Turkey and letting me adopt her. She has been a great asset to my family and has been the most wonderful dog. Her goofiness is always entertaining. Josie has been my constant walking buddy and has helped me lose about 80 pounds and keep it off for over a year.

Sandy is doing wonderfully. She has bonded with her sister, Bella, and they are rarely apart! She loves going "bye bye!"

Patti Ann's Gotcha Day 9 years ago.

Duke is lucky enough to go to work with his mom. When Fredbird visited the office, it was the best day ever!

Our Bella (formerly Sasha) has made tremendous strides since rescuing us last year. She loves being surrounded by her stuffed animals (about 20), going for a walk with Dad every night after dinner, car rides, and playing outside. She's such a sweet and happy girl! There's nothing better than coming home to smiles, kisses, and popcorn jumps (all four paws off the floor)! We thank Love a Golden for bringing her to us...she's filled our hearts with so much love!

Bernie (formerly Mitzi) is doing great in his new home.

Tater's Tots were 5 years old 31st March 2019.

Nora (formerly Claire) Everything has been going great. We've taken her on a few hikes, and she has really grown to enjoy her daily run/walks in the neighborhood. She has made friends with our neighbor's dog Marshall, who is also a golden retriever. She loves having him come into the yard for play dates. She's gotten used to riding in the car, and loves the window down with the breeze on her. She also loves getting to go to Grandma and Grandpa's house and playing with their two dogs in the big backyard.

Charlie (formerly Kale) is doing great and is a perfect fit in our family! He is growing quickly and is up to 60 pounds with a very shiny, beautiful coat. Obedience is going well, but we're still working on containing his excitement when meeting new people :).

Smalls (formerly Miska) is doing great! She is coming out of her shyness more and more. Recently she discovered she could get onto the couch and has since claimed the chase as hers. She is so sweet. Everyone who meets her has fallen in love with her.

Charlie (formerly Chili) is doing great! He is so big now, but still thinks he's a lap dog :) He and Chase are best buddies, which is exactly what we wanted! Charlie is super friendly and social with people and other dogs. We've been taking him places to get him used to being in public. Aside from tugging on the leash a bit and jumping up on people, (we are working on both!) he has done wonderfully.

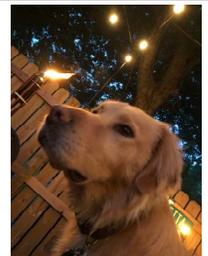

Einstein (formerly Curry) is thriving. He is excellent at opening doors without help.

Taffy (formerly Tulip) is doing great as we approach her "gotcha day." She has brought so much joy into our home and has fit into our lifestyle so smoothly. She enjoys her daily walks, sometimes two a day, where she socializes with the neighbors along the way. She is such a "people dog," who enjoys interacting with everyone she meets. We feel really fortunate that we adopted such a sweet, affectionate dog. She has really worked her way into our hearts.

All is wonderful here. Asher has been a blessing to Etta, me and our family. He is such an affectionate guy, a 60-pound lap dog. His separation anxiety is gone, he is doing wonderfully.

Pedro is doing great! He is the sweetest! He loves going for walks, and he is starting to like car rides. I'm getting him acclimated to being around other people. I love him so much, and I think he is very comfortable in his home now.

Jax is adapting very well with our family. He is such a good boy, and he loves to snuggle. We have a 17-year-old grandson with Cystic Fibrosis who coughs a lot. When he is having a bad coughing attack, Jax is right by his side. We are so blessed to have Jax in our lives.

In Loving Memory

I have some very sad news to pass along. Kona passed away last night on his own. He was 14. Needless to say, I am heartbroken. He was such an incredibly special golden (they all are, but he was truly amazing). Thank you for letting me be the one who got to be his mom for 11 years.

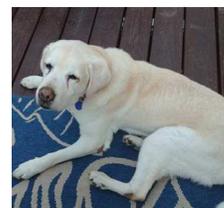

We adopted Brian from you all back in September-October of 2009. He was a beautiful golden and a great companion to our goldie girl, Bonnie, who we adopted a year later...We so appreciate what you do to help animals in need, and we will continue to support your efforts...

Sadly, Lexi went to the bridge in April.

Raven crossed the bridge in April. She had been in her forever home just 7 months, but she knew lots of love after her former life as a breeder.

I'm sorry to say we had to put Princess Ross down. She had reached a point of age-related hip issues and could barely walk. We got her from Love A Golden Rescue in December of 2015. She had a very good life, until the last couple of months. It is sad, but the right thing to do. Date to bridge 4-22-2019.

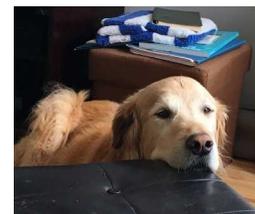

Sweetie Pie had been sick for a couple of weeks, and at first, I (and the vet) thought it was a stomach bug, but after medications, she just wasn't getting better.

More trips to the vet revealed she had a large mass in her stomach.

She was a stellar dog, just the sweetest girl. I think of all the goldens I've had and she was the very sweetest. Always happy. Always loving. I am heartbroken.

We adopted Jimmy K. in the fall of 2015. When we saw him at an adoption event, we all fell in love with him. Jimmy was a beloved member of our family. He was funny, gentle, smart, precocious and a genuine pleasure to have around.

Last week, we had to part ways with Jimmy. About a month and a half ago, he developed a limp in his hind right leg, and it progressively got worse. Even with medical interventions, it eventually got to the point where he couldn't walk without assistance. Long story short, he is no longer with us.

With great sadness, our Levi, our sweet boy has gone to bridge....to run with our other golden beauties we have had through the years. He will now be forever itch free. We were very fortunate to have Levi for almost 5 years and enjoyed his antics every day. Levi was a character as all goldens are and loved having a job, he would go to work with me and snooze under my desk, until the mailman came, because Levi knew he would get a treat from him. These notes are always so hard to write because it is hard to believe they are gone...but always in our hearts. Godspeed Levi until we meet again.....Paul & Kathy R. xooxox

Thank you for blessing us with the best dog ever! Just short of turning 13, Chloe got sick, and we had to put her to sleep. It was heartbreaking, because she truly was the sweetest, smartest, most gentle dog in the world. Our lives have been made rich and joyful over the last 11 years because of her. We will greatly miss her, and she will always be in our hearts. God bless our "sweet baby". Sue & Rick M.

One more sweet angel has crossed the rainbow bridge. Our dear sweet Allie crossed the bridge on June 18, just a month shy of her 12th birthday. I knew from the moment I saw Allie, that I was going to love her forever. She was our first foster failure in over 40 dogs and puppies...that's how special she was! Allie's only goal was to be close to her people, eat all of the treats she could, and snuggle. She brought smiles and joy to everyone she met and never let her two bad knees or hip get in her way. Six months was just not enough time with our sweet girl. Run free, Allie Girl. We will always love you!

6k Run

Fur + Flood = Fun

On Saturday, May 25th Love a Golden Rescue had their 4th annual run. Volunteers, walkers and runners came together to help the dog rescue cause. Despite some challenges, it was a blast.

We had over 100 runners and walkers come to Creve Coeur park to support LAGR. Some brought their dogs--either on leashes or in strollers. Some dogs tried to avoid the run and instead hung out in one of the doggie swimming pools that attracted many four-legged repeat customers. The two-legged runners and walkers enjoyed the great weather. They received wonderful swag bags, and they left knowing they helped future dogs get rescued.

The run route had to be changed due to flooding. However, the extra water in the lake didn't dampen the spirits. It was a fun day for all who came.
